SALEM, Dec 4th 1863

AWFULLY UPSET —The Eugene City Review is terribly rabid in its denunciation of the State Militia Law passed last year. It seems to see blood, thunder and general conflagration in its harmless provisions. It says

This whole Militia Act is a humbug and a swindle, and the officers employed in carrying it into effect make it more so, if possible. It is simply an Act to fleece Democrats and arm Abolitionists with Minie muskets at the expense of Democrats, who are made, by the County Assessors, generally, to bear all the burdens of the tax. It is a bill which permits the Military Auditing Board to plunge the State in debt, and to do what they please with the money raised, without being obliged to account for it. It is a fit Act to incorporate into Judge Deady's immortal Code.

Just think of it! "The Democrats are made generally to bear all the burdens of the tax!" Does the editor imagine that anybody is deceived by such ineffable nonsense? If so, and if those whom he calls Democrats really believe that any such scheme is on foot, we hope he and they will be compelled to bear all imaginable taxes. They will hardly be noticed by those who cheerfully carry the load of such stupidity as their faith in the Review proves them to be willing to bear. In fact, that sort of people in a free and enlightened community, is of no particular use or benefit, except to make beasts of burden of, and below that, to furnish readers and patrons of such papers as the Review.

THE CONSTITUTION AS IT IS.—The Hon HENRY WINTER DAVIS, who represented Maryland in Congress in the winter of 1860-61, gained for himself the gratitude of the nation, by the wise and patriotic course which he then pursued in resisting the schemes of the secessionists. He is one of the most eminent lawyers in the Slave State of Maryland, and is much more competent to decide upon the intent and meaning of the Constitution, than most of those who pervert its meaning, to excite discontent against the government. In a late speech, he said:

> When I speak of the Constitution as it is, I speak of it as it came from General Washington, Thomas Jefferson, and Alexander Hamilton—that Constitution which came to us in all its vigor—which says that the President has the power to call out soldiers for the suppression of the rebellion. It is under the Constitution as it is that our armies are now giving to each State a republican form of government. I do not believe that there is an arbitrary power vested anywhere in the government of the United States. The Constitution has amply provided for all emergencies. It has provided for the suspension of the habeas corpus, when the national safety requires it. As the President is trusted with the command of the army, so he is entrusted with the power to punish all men who are dangerous to the Commonwealth. The Constitution gives him the power to arrest disaffected men and hold them till the danger is passed. That's the Constitution as it is.

THE ENROLMENT.—We are informed by Capt. J. M. Keeler, Provost Marshal of the State, who is now in this city, that the enrolment is going on without interruption, or more delay than the peculiar condition of the people makes unavoidable. Between eight and nine thousand names have already been placed on the lists and reported, and in a short time it is hoped that the rolls will be completed. We understand that Mr. H. H. Johnson will be authorized to finish the canvass and enrolment in this city, and will proceed forthwith to the performance of his duties.

TRYING TO BE TRAITORS.—We learn that certain treasonable fellows of the baser sort, about Canyon City, made a demonstration last week against the enrolment law, ordered the officer to give up his lists, and acted like a pack of silly and wicked traitors. Mr Trowbridge, the enrolling officer came to the Dalles to report to his principal; we hope he will go back with power sufficient to teach the rowdies obedience.

SALEM SANITARY AID SOCIETY.—The Statesman says this Society has been organized with the following officers:

A F Waller, President, M Hirsch, Vice President, P S Knight, Secretary, and J H Moores, Treasurer.

The following Board of Managers was appointed to serve for three months: C A Reed, E M Waite, A J Riely, Mrs S Price, Mrs. P S Knight, Mrs J R Robb, Mrs L E Pratt and Mrs J H Moores.

Major N H. McLean, chief of Burnside's staff at Cincinnati, and chief of McClellan's staff on the Peninsula, has been relieved of his command at Cincinnati, and ordered to report to Brigadier General Alvord, at Vancouver, W T.

APPOINTMENT.—By private dispatch, dated Washington, December 7th the Statesman learns that E P Drew has been appointed Inspector of Customs at Umpqua.

DISCIPLINE OF OUR ARMY.—No one who has observed the soldierly bearing of the troops encamped in and around the city for the last three weeks can fail to have been struck with the contrast presented by them to the raw levies, brave but undisciplined, who responded to their country's call two years ago. The [illegible] volunteer regiments were little better than an armed mob. Now they are trained to a degree that makes their movements as regular as clockwork. One of these old war worn [illegible] with tattered banners, marched past our office yesterday. It was the First Minnesota—a regiment that [illegible] at Gettysburg—and although the men were in heavy marching order they moved with an elasticity, a regularity and a [illegible] bearing, that would have elicited praise from the strictest martinet. And it is so with all our army. Two years of war on a magnificent scale have given to our population martial attributes and wrought us into the foremost military nation of the earth.—[illegible] Herald

Great Sanitary Fair at Chicago

The Illinois papers are full of glowing accounts of this grand patriotic demonstration, and we find in the San Francisco Bulletin, a letter from its correspondent, from which we make some extracts that we are sure will gratify our readers. It was estimated that more than a hundred thousand strangers visited Chicago during the Fair, completely filling every one of the immense hotels and crowding the city as it never was crowded before. The letter says:

So far as I can learn, this Fair had its origin in the [illegible] hearts of two of the noble women [illegible] so lavishly [illegible] time and [illegible] with an [illegible] patriotism [illegible] two, having [illegible] the hospitals [illegible] the sufferings [illegible] and having often contributed [illegible] to the [illegible] of the Northwest who [illegible] determined that the Northwest should as [illegible] and unitedly have an opportunity of cheering [illegible] Accordingly, [illegible] was called and such sentiments as the following were sent through the land:

Every city, town and village has had its fair, festival, party, picnic, excursion or concert which have netted more or less to the cause of hospital relief. The need of money for this sacred purpose still continues. Our brave armies are still wrestling with the southern rebellion, which, though often times beaten back, is not yet subdued, and the hospitals, made vacant by death or recovery, are ever newly refilled by new fires which disease has rendered pale, and new forms shattered by gunshot or sabre stroke. Women still continue to [illegible] sanitary supplies for the comfort and care of our soldiers while well, being beneath the heart of loyal Union and women. We must still continue to exercise our ingenuity for the supply of funds, since the most valuable sanitary stores can only be obtained with money. It has therefore been decided to hold a grand Northwestern Fair for the benefit of the Sanitary Commission. Assurances have been received that the States of Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota will generally join in the project.

As a result every Aid Society (and there are over 1,000 of them in connection with the Chicago Branch of the Sanitary Commission), the Union Leagues, Lodges of the Order of Good Templars and other benevolent organizations entered gloriously into the movement and were generally represented in the Convention of lady delegates held September last. From first to last the management has been exclusively in the hands of ladies, and when the magnitude of the enterprise is considered the difficulties incident thereto, the constant [illegible] labor essential thereto, and, thank God! the triumphant success thereof—[illegible] if this is remembered, he must be a poor fool who could speak disparagingly of the ability of the sex of his mother, and a poor patriot who can despair of a final and complete [illegible] traitor [illegible] that sex so fervent with love of Washington's country and Washington's God.

The opening ceremonies of the Fair took place on Tuesday, October 27th. I was so unfortunate as not to arrive until Wednesday night, but from conversation with strangers who witnessed them can assure you that even the strong language as all the papers indulge in, is not too forcible. The Tribune says:

"Yesterday will never be forgotten either in the city of Chicago, or in the West. Memorable it will remain both as history and patriotism. Such a sight was never before seen in the West, on any occasion, and we doubt whether a more magnificent spectacle was ever presented in the Empire City itself, than that vast procession of chariots and horsemen, country wagons and vehicles, civic orders and military companies, both horse and foot which converted Chicago for the time being into a vast theatre of wonders."

The procession, which is variously estimated at from three to five miles in length, was composed of Michigan Sharp shooters, invalid corps bearing 15 flags captured from the rebels, Chicago military companies, invalid soldiers from the Soldier's Home of the Sanitary Commission, drawn in 30 army express wagons, the Fire Department in all their greatness and glory, Turnvereins, Order of Odd Fellows, (eight Encampments and Lodges,) Catholic Societies (24 in number,) City, State, and Federal dignitaries, 40 Omnibus loads of children, one huge truck containing 67 little queens who sang melodiously of the eternal march of John Brown's soul, a long line of the Butchers, (and other,) Associations and last and greatest, the Lake county delegation, made up of farmers. It was the feature I have seen the eyes of more than one lady moisten as she would speak about it, and, therefore, quote again from the Tribune:

"There were 100 wagons loaded to overflowing with vegetables—the staid old horses decorated with little flags, and larger flags pendant from the wagons and held by the stout farmer hands. It was a great and beautiful free will offering of the sturdy farmers whose hearts ever beat true to freedom and the Union. No part of the procession attracted so many eyes, and no heartier cheers went up from the thousands who thronged the streets than those given and thrice repeated, for the Lake county farmers and their splendid donation. There were no small loads. Every wagon was filled to overflowing with great heaps of potatoes and silver skinned onions, mammoth squashes, huge beets and turnips, monster cabbages, barrels of cider and rosy apples, load after load, with many a gray haired farmer, giving face weather beaten, frame rugged, hands bronzed, his old eyes sparkling with the excitement of the project his big heart conceived. And back of the farmer, mounted on the vegetables, were the boys, filled to repletion with fun. At the end of the route the teams drove up to the Sanitary Commission rooms, and were unloaded by their broad shouldered owners. The sidewalks and streets were filled with boxes, barrels and sacks. Madison street was blockaded. Judge Fuller came to see what was the matter, why the cars were so long delayed; but when he saw the cause and the effect upon the people, he concluded passengers could well afford to walk around the block. This grand donation was fully worth $3,000, an amount of farm products of every variety, better than gold for the Sanitary Commission, and, through them for the boys in the field and in hospitals. [That same evening car loads of the vegetables were rolling along to Louisville and Cairo for the sick.]

"This harvest home was enough to bring tears to the eyes of any man. There was an eloquence in it, a moral grandeur that spoke louder than words. It told that the farmers, the bone and sinew of the country, were yet confident of success, that despair or distrust had not entered into their calculations, and that the boys in the field were worthy the best of their [illegible]. There was no advertisement lurking behind their contribution. It was a free will offering from their great generous hearts, for which they will have no recompense save the best of all recompense, the blessings of the gallant fellows in camp and hospital."

Yes, they will, Mr Tribune. The great good Father above never forgets such actions, and will, in the next world, as well as in this, recompense the donors with a munificence all His own, while great hearted people everywhere, admirers of their sturdy generosity, will reward them with the tenderest of gratitudes and praises. In fact, great hearted ladies did according to the Tribune's story far more than repay them that very afternoon. Thus:

After the speeches had been made, the numberless salutes had been fired, and the man division which had [illegible] the procession had been dismissed, a committee pulled all the farmers away from their [illegible] put them between [illegible] and marched them all as prisoners of war to Bryan Hall. There they were handed over to the tender mercies of the executive committee and left just such an expression [illegible] one of them as [illegible] captives were ordered down below into the basement stronghold. It wasn't quite a dungeon [illegible] burners flooded it with light, and it wasn't very much like a Dixie prison [illegible] tables [illegible] cover glistened beneath the gas jets [illegible] the finest, wealthiest, most genteel and prettiest ladies that the [illegible] beauty. THE BOOKS, LITERATURE OF OREGON.—Under the above title the judicious and judicial correspondent of the Bulletin has a few sentences in which we fully concur:

Oregon is yet in the growing state, in which the late Delazon Smith, in speaking [illegible] a half grown boy, was wont to describe as the "Big [illegible]" with building, hunting, digging and other manner of physical labor. This is natural and proper for a people who have a new country to improve and adorn and a history to make. Our book publishing therefore has hitherto not extended beyond a few ephemeral pamphlets, of a personal character or such as contain a mere memorial of the sayings and doings of our various societies and organizations. Here, as [illegible], paper literature has been sufficiently abundant [illegible] children smelling strong of the virgin soil—full of an ultra-rural natural vigor and [illegible] but mainly to be considered as a branch of physical labor, where so much blank paper is wrought into printed sheets full of advertisements, despatches and miscellaneous clipping, and sold for so many dollars per annum or bits per quarter. The era of intellectual productions comes only in the full and ripe age of a people, while we are still in comparative infancy and mostly denominated and guided by impulses and wants of a physical character. When we want a new book we don't write it, but buy it of older people who have accumulated sufficient intellectual capital to engage in the production of such exquisite luxuries and stimulants.

And then, having given the biographical history of Almanacs in different countries, he good naturedly and justly says:

And now as other people begun, so do we. The Oregon Almanac, a pamphlet of 56 pages compiled and published by S. J. McCormick, Portland, may now be regarded as a prominent institution of the country. The edition for 1864 now issued completes the tenth year of its publication. If you want to get any Almanac information about "Oregon, Washington and Idaho," buy McCormick's. This paragraph is not a mercenary puff. The copy I have I paid for—12½ cents. Therefore I am free to say that I do not vouch for the truth of its statements. In particular, I object to the meteorology of our wholesome and delightful climate being as certained by the rain guage of Fort Umpqua, on our western coast. It generally rains 50 per cent more on the coast than it does in the valleys between the coast and Cascade Mountains, while in the country east of the latter it is said that it seldom rains. Our reputation for moisture is sufficient, without measuring the rain drop at the deepest point in the country and taking that as an average. Yet as I said before I still say, buy McCormick's. You are more likely get correct local information there than in any almanac compiled and published out of Oregon. But the almanac, though a beginning in the bookish way is nothing near a book. It is a compilation mostly made with scissors and paste. When some rare genius shall arise among us, and spin one from the woof of his brain, then we may be quoted in the intellectual market of the world. Until then we must be content to make money and find fame in the quantity and quality of our material productions.

OUR DEBTS AND OUR RESOURCES.—The National debt on the 1st of July was $1,097,274,106 subject to an annual interest of $42,206,001. By this time the debt may possibly have reached eleven hundred and fifty millions of dollars, with a corresponding increase of interest. This sum is large, but what are the National resources? By referring to the able report of Kennedy, the Superintendent of the last census (1860) we find that in the ten years between 1850 and 1860 the population increased thirty five per cent, more than [illegible] acres of fresh land were brought into cultivation, the produce of manufactories increased from $1,000,000,000 to $1,900,000,000, the banking capital from $227,000,000 to $421,000,000, insurance to $[illegible]14,000,000. Railroads increased in ten years 22,000 miles, and the capital from $[illegible] to $1,1[illegible],000, telegraph lines spread a complete network over the whole country, and an army of emigrants from Europe within the last ten years has marched mainly into the Northwest, numbering two million five hundred thousand souls. Iron produced $41,100,000, agricultural implements increased from $6,600,000 to $17,000,000, machinery from $27,000,000 to $47,000,000, coal, from $7,600,000 to $19,000,000, printing from $11,000,000 to $40,000,000, lumber from $58,000,000 to $[illegible], flour and grist mills increased product from $[illegible]0,000 to $115,000,000, woolen manufactures from $49,000,000 to $68,000,000, leather, $37,000,000 in 1850, to $63,000,000 in 1860. Manufactures of boots and shoes $54,000. India rubber $5,000,000, gas $14,000,000, wheat 17,000,000 bushels, cotton 5,196,000 bales, butter 480,000,000 pounds, cheese 105,000,000 pounds (45,000,000 exported), slaughtered animals $212,000,000, tobacco, 429,000,000 pounds (of which was produced 1,500,000 pounds in Ohio, 35,000,000 pounds in New York, 5,000,000 in Massachusetts and little Connecticut 6,000,000) of pounds, wine 1,800,000 gallons, hay 19,000,000 tons, valued at $20 per ton, $380,000,000. Orchard products $19,000,000. Total [illegible] 510,000,000 tons worth $221,000,000 and so on. If we should draw a line across the continent from Norfolk to the Pacific, the United States even above that line and [illegible] the protection of the stars and stripes could [illegible] within a century [illegible] principal and interest [illegible] any one [illegible] Europe could pay its interest. The continual improvements in agricultural machinery, much of it steam [illegible] manual [illegible] labor, as if by magic the [illegible] Western prairies while the great suction pipes, the grand railroad trunks [illegible] are carrying it with lightning speed to the great city centres on the Atlantic, [illegible] when it is wafted to feed all Europe. We are rapidly approaching the time when by the inclination of [illegible] in agriculture we shall be able with the almost [illegible] products of the rich alluvials of the prairie to furnish Europe [illegible] at [illegible] crops. It is [illegible] still [illegible] the treasury. Interest is being paid now in gold [illegible] premium [illegible] currency and when the day of specie payments shall return and this debt shall be sinking from the [illegible] expansion and inflation [illegible] the Government [illegible] will [illegible] broader and sounder basis, and gain more in appreciation [illegible] capital than they will lose in the specie premium on the interest.—[illegible] Insurance Reporter.

THERE is no other way to cure diseases but by first purifying the whole system so as to create a healthy circulation.

The first medical men of the age agree with us that no disease of any extent can be cured without using such medicines as will act directly upon the blood. Why many medical men have failed to cure chronic diseases is because the medicines used have not been such as will act beneficially on the blood.

The many thousands of bottles which have been used by the public, and the many gross and barrels supplied to the physicians, warrant us in saying that the last two years we have been more successful with our Scovill's Blood and Liver Syrup in curing hopeless cases of chronic diseases than have any other remedies in the hands of physicians, or before the public.

It is now admitted that no combination known to the profession acts so promptly upon diseases as our SCOVILL'S BLOOD AND LIVER SYRUP.

THE TIME FOR ACTION.—While the rivers are rising and there is no immediate fear of a further detention of steamers and sailing vessels at the mouth of the river on account of the existence of bars across the channel, a judicious and far seeing policy would dictate the inauguration of such measures as should and effectually to prevent ships of heavy draft from being in the future required to discharge any parts of cargoes before arriving fairly at their destination. The present is the acceptable time to perfect arrangements for a thorough and complete dredging of the channel and bars during the next low stage of the river. Portlanders are not only ridiculed abroad for their assumption that this city is absolutely the head of navigation, but enterprising citizens of rival localities are doing their best to supplant us in the acquisition of an unobstructed commercial depot. They will not only deserve but will realize a full [illegible] if our leading citizens are not awakened soon to their true interests. A few thousand dollars, subscribed, collected and remitted East now would secure to us all the apparatus necessary for the effectual clearing out of all obstructions from our river, and we could be prepared, with the shallowing of the river next year, to deepen the channel. A rumor is current that the steamer Oregon was hired to stop at the mouth of the Palmetto for the purpose of casting a stigma upon our city. This is simply ridiculous. A steamer drawing fifteen feet of water hired not to go over a bar covered by only thirteen feet! Our people can hire her to come up here, by giving her enough water to float in. Until this is done, it is not necessary to hire any vessel to refrain from running aground in the Willamette.

GENERAL AVERAGE.—It is rumored on the street that recent letters received here report the throwing overboard from the steamship Oregon of the entire amount of freight shipped hence for Victoria, and the subject of general average is engaging the attention especially of those who had freight on board for San Francisco. General average is regarded as a good institution by those whose freights are supposed to be overboard, and no doubt would be held by everybody else—if we all felt and thought alike under any and all circumstances.

THE STEAMER E D. BAKER.—The situation of this vessel is very nearly the same as on Monday evening, and may be regarded as [illegible] only account of the rising river. Her stern wheel was almost entirely submerged, indicating about eighteen or twenty feet of water at the stern. Her fore foot is embedded in the sand near the shore, and her main deck is out of water forward of the after part of her boiler. Should the river rise a few feet more, in the next few days, it is the opinion of some that no effort to recover the [illegible] will be successful.

"EVENING GAZETTE."—This is the title of an evening cotemporary, under the management of A. M. Snyder, Esq, the second number of which appeared yesterday. It presents a neat appearance, is well printed on good paper, and although its position upon the great national issue has not been editorially set forth, its selections point to a sturdy and unwavering support of the National Administration. We welcome the new champion of Unconditional Union.

PORTLAND GUARDS' ANNUAL ELECTION.—At the Annual meeting of the Portland Guards, held at their Armory on Monday evening, the following gentlemen were elected Company officers for the ensuing year:

Captain, E G. Randall. Lieutenants—1st, A. Davis, 2d, M. A King. Orderly, H Hermon. Sergeants—1st, Chas. Binder, 2d, Jas W Going, 3d, F C. Pomeroy, 4th, B. Stewart. Corporals—1st, Chas. Per[illegible], 2d, V. Cook, 3d, A. H. Jones, 4th, [illegible] Failing. President, W S Caldwell. Secretary, E Failing. Treasurer, H Saxer. The Company meets for drill once a week.

AWAITING SHIPMENT.—There are now in the city over 6,000 boxes of apples awaiting transportation to a market. We understand that a good sized steamer could have a full freight each week, or four cargoes a month for some time to come.

THE OREGON CITY STEAMERS.—Since the [illegible] of the E D Baker, which made the afternoon trip for freight to Oregon City the steamer Express, Capt Myrick, leaves here at 7 o'clock in the morning, and the steamer [illegible], Capt Baughman, leaves here at two in the afternoon.

RISE IN THE RIVER.—The Willamette had risen, up to last evening, a little more than [illegible] feet, in front of this city, but the indications of the weather were such as to lead the oldest inhabitant to anticipate a slight recession. It is doubtless cold among the hills.

THE steamer Wilson G Hunt arrived about [illegible] hours later than usual last evening with [illegible] passengers and but little dust. There was no connection above the Dalles.

MORE NEW GOODS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.—The old established firm of Harker Brothers, whose store extends the entire depth of the block, from Front to First streets, have been receiving their immense stock in view of the holiday and general winter trade. Their transactions are not confined to any particular branch of merchandise, but a couple of sweethearts can enter the store, buy their wedding garments, and before they leave have every thing they want to eat, wear and use during a prolonged and blissful matrimonial career.

DIRECT IMPORTATIONS.—We were shown [illegible] evening, an invoice of goods received by Weil Bros & Co per last steamer direct from

Lewiston Sept 3d 1863

This is to certify that I have used DETTER'S HAIR RESTORATIVE and I take great pleasure in recommending it to the public as a SAFE and EFFECTUAL PREPARATION for the restoration of the Hair. I was nearly bald when I commenced the use of it and after using two bottles I find it has produced a fine healthy growth of hair and that too in less than two months. I can heartily recommend it for its great virtues and efficiency.

THE SITTING ROOM.—There is, or there should be, in every house a room where all the household come together every day, a dear well remembered chamber, hung round by memory with the portraits of father, mother, brothers, sisters, servants, kinsfolk, friends, neighbors, guests, strangers and Christ's poor. Oh, my reader, do you not remember such a room? In your wanderings, in your voyages in the groups of your family and among your own children, do not your thought go back to the days when you gathered around that ruddy crackling fire, and when the heads which are now low were as a crown of glory to their offspring?

In some houses this common room is the living room, as our Puritan fathers called it. It is the only room in the house. It is parlor, bed room, kitchen, all in one. Blessed compensation of Providence to the poor man and his offspring, they can be always together.

Wealth multiplies apartments and separates families. Go to the western clearing, and before you reach the cabin, you descry through the chinks the glow of a fire which would serve a city mechanic for a week. Entering, you behold the illumination of a whole circle sitting around the blaze, perhaps singing their evening hymn. Are they less happy than the dwellers in ceiled houses? Change the scene to the up town seats of wealth, where the merchant prince abides in greater conveniences than Nebuchadnezzar or Charlemagne, for he has baths hot and cold on every floor, furnace-heat and gas lights. You can scarcely number the apartments. You think it a paradise. Hold! reconsider the social, the domestic part. It is three o'clock. What a solitude! The father is slaving at his counting house. The mother is dropping cards at fifty doors, or stiffly receiving fifty visits. The boys are sparring, or walking Broadway or Chesnut street. The girls are with masters in Italian, dancing and philosophy. The babies are airing with French nurses. Do these ever come together? Not in the true family sense. God's blessing is on the room, whether covered with Axminster carpets or unplaned plank, whether hung with damask or with hunting shirts and bear skins, where that little kingdom, a Christian household, daily meet for prayer, for praise, for kind words, for joint labors, for loving looks, for rational entertainment, for reading aloud, for music, for neighborly exchanges, for entertaining angels unawares.—J. W. Alexander.

ONE REASON FOR GOING TO CHURCH.—Another reason why you should go to Church on Sunday is, that you need the intellectual nourishment and stimulus which you can only get there. I suppose that you do not often consider the fact that the greatest amount of genuine thinking done in the world is done by preachers. I suppose that you may never reflect that, in the midst of all this din of business and clashing of various interests—in the midst of the clamors and horrors of war, the universal pursuit of amusements, and the vanities and insanities of fashion, and the indulgence of multitudinous vices, there is a class of self denying men, of the best education and the best talents and habits, who in the quiet of their rooms, are thinking and writing upon the noblest themes which can engage any mind. Among these men may be found the finest minds which the age knows—the most splendid specimens of intellectual power that the world contains. The bright consummate flower of our American college system is the American Ministry. Among these men are many that are slow—stupid, if you insist on it—but there is not one in one thousand of them who does not know more than you do. You can learn something of them all, while some of them possess more brains and more available intellectual power than you and all your relations combined—I tell you that if you suppose the American pulpit to be contemptible, you are very much mistaken. You have stayed away from it for ten years. During these ten years I have attended its weekly ministrations, and I have a better right to speak about it than you because I know more about it. I tell you that I have received during these ten years more intellectual nourishment and stimulus from the pulpit than all other sources combined, yet my everyday pursuits are literary while yours are not.—Timothy Titcomb's Address to Mechanics.

MRS. PARTINGTON ON WATERING PLACES.—"Are you going to any watering place this Summer?" asked a young friend of Mrs. Partington on a rainy day lately. She had just put up the window to keep out the damp and disagreeable air, and pulled her handkerchief more up over her shoulders to keep off the chill. "Watering places," said she, with a gentle tap on the cover of her box, at the same time looking at Ike, who was engaged in making a kite out of the last Puritan Recorder, that the dame had just laid by for her Sunday reading, "watering places I don't think much of nowadays. There ain't no need of 'em since the lucky motives have run off the stages; but once, as the old pumps stood by the waysides, under the ambiguous trees, with a hollow log for the cattle to drink out of, it seemed like a horses in the desert, as some of 'em used to say." "My dear madam," said her young friend, "I mean the fashionable watering places where people go to spend the Summer." "Oh," she replied, "that's it, is it? Well, we needn't go away from home to find a watering place to day, and them that do, depend upon it"—here she laid her mouth close to his ear and spoke in a whisper—"they go for something else besides the water." She gave him a queer look as she said this, and pointed significantly to the little buffet in the corner, where an old fashioned cut glass decanter stood, surrounded by a dozen little glasses, as if they were young decanters just hatched out; but what she meant we dare not attempt to explain. Ike just then finished his kite by burning the holes for the "belly-band" with the small point of Mrs. Partington's scissors, that had been heated red hot for that purpose.

AN OLD LADY'S ADVICE TO JOHNNY.—Now John, listen to me—I'm older than you, or I couldn't be your mother. Never do you marry a young woman, John, before you have contrived to happen around four or five times before breakfast. You should know how late she lies in bed in the morning. You should take notice whether her complexion is the same in the morning as in the evening, or whether the wash and towel have robbed her of her evening bloom. You should take care to surprise her so that you may see her in her morning dress, and observe how her hair looks when she is not expecting you. If possible, you should be where you can hear the morning conversation between her and her mother. If she is ill natured and snappish to her mother, so she will be to you, depend on it. But if you find her up and dressed neatly in the morning, with the same smiles, the neatly combed hair, the same ready and pleasant answers to her mother, which characterized her deportment in the evening, and particularly, if she is lending a hand to get the breakfast ready in good season, she is a prize, John, and the sooner you secure her to yourself, the better.

PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There are many preparations sold under the name of Bitters, put up in quart bottles, compounded of the cheapest whiskey or common rum, costing from 20 to 40 cents per gallon, the taste disguised by Anise or Coriander Seed.

This class of Bitters has caused and will continue to cause, as long as they can be sold, hundreds to die the death of the drunkard. By their use the system is kept continually under the influence of Alcoholic Stimulants of the worst kind, the desire for Liquor is created and kept up, and the result is all the horrors attendant upon a drunkard's life and death.

For those who desire and will have a Liquor Bitters, we publish the following receipt: Get One Bottle Hoofland's German Bitters and mix with Three Quarts of Good Brandy or Whiskey, and the result will be a preparation that will far excel in medicinal virtues and true excellence any of the numerous Liquor Bitters in the market, and will cost much less. You will have all the virtues of Hoofland's Bitters in connection with a good article of Liquor, at a much less price than these inferior preparations will cost you.

ATTENTION, SOLDIERS!

AND THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.

We call the attention of all having relations or friends in the army to the fact that "HOOFLAND'S German Bitters" will cure nine-tenths of the diseases induced by exposures and privations incident to camp life. In the lists, published almost daily in the newspapers, on the arrival of the sick, it will be noticed that a very large proportion are suffering from debility. Every case of that kind can be readily cured by Hoofland's German Bitters. Diseases resulting from disorders of the digestive organs are speedily removed. We have no hesitation in stating that, if these Bitters were freely used among our soldiers, hundreds of lives might be saved that otherwise will be lost.

We call particular attention to the following remarkable and well authenticated cure of one of the nation's heroes, whose life, to use his own language, "has been saved by the Bitters."

PHILADELPHIA, August 23, 1862.

Messrs. Jones and Evans—Well, gentlemen, your Hoofland's German Bitters has saved my life. There is no mistake in this. It is vouched for by numbers of my comrades, some of whose names are appended, and who were fully cognizant of all the circumstances of my case. I am, and have been for the last four years, a member of Sherman's celebrated battery, and under the immediate command of Captain R. B. Ayres. Through the exposure attendant upon my arduous duties, I was attacked in November last with inflammation of the lungs, and was for seventy-two days in the hospital. This was followed by great debility, heightened by an attack of dysentery. I was then removed from the White House, and sent to this city on board the steamer "State of Maine," from which I landed on the 28th of June. Since that time I have been about as low as any one could be and still retain a spark of vitality. For a week or more I was scarcely able to swallow anything, and if I did force a morsel down, it was immediately thrown up again.

I could not even keep a glass of water on my stomach. Life could not last under these circumstances; and, accordingly, the physicians who had been working faithfully, though unsuccessfully, to rescue me from the grasp of the dread Archer, frankly told me they could do no more for me, and advised me to see a clergyman, and to make such disposition of my limited funds as best suited me. An acquaintance who visited me at the hospital, Mr. Frederick Steinbrun, of Sixth below Arch street, advised me, as a forlorn hope, to try your Bitters, and kindly procured a bottle. From the time I commenced taking them the gloomy shadow of death receded, and I am now, thank God for it, getting better. Though I have taken but two bottles, I have gained ten pounds, and I feel sanguine of being permitted to rejoin my wife and daughter, from whom I have heard nothing for eighteen months; for, gentlemen, I am a loyal Virginian, from the vicinity of Front Royal. To your invaluable Bitters I owe the certainty of life which has taken the place of vague fears—to your Bitters will I owe the glorious privilege of again clasping to my bosom those who are dearest to me in life.

Very truly yours, ISAAC MALONE.

We fully concur in the truth of the above statement, as we had despaired of seeing our comrade, Mr. Malone, restored to life.
